What is the Davis-Stirling Act?

The Davis–Stirling Common Interest Development Act is the popular name of the portion of the California Civil Code, which governs condominium, cooperative, and planned unit development communities in California.

Davis-Stirling Act Guidelines for Committees

Formation of Committees. Committees are appointed by or at the direction of the board of directors. (Corp. Code §7210; Corp. Code §7212(b).) Homeowners do not have the right to appoint themselves to committees

Size of Committees. Committees can be as small as one person or as large as the board deems necessary. However, a committee size typically falls in the one to five member range with the average being two or three members.

Committee Chair. Committee chairs are appointed by the board. Once appointed, the committee cannot elect a different chairperson. However, the committee can apply to the board for the appointment of a new chairperson.

Open Meeting Act. There is no law requiring that committees hold open meetings or post agendas. The Open Meeting Act applies only to meetings of the board. Most committees are advisory in nature and deliver their recommendations to the board of directors in open meetings where members can hear the committee's recommendations.
